FULTON COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE KIMBERLY ESMOND ADAMS JOINS LOCAL UNIVERSITY TO CELEBRATE WOMEN’S HISTORY MONTH

ATLANTA- American InterContinental University Dunwoody will celebrate Women’s History Month Thursday, March 26 with a Women’s Empowerment Symposium. The symposium will bring together Atlanta female professionals including:

- Fulton County Superior Court Judge Kimberly Esmond Adams
- Atlanta Regional Commission IT manager Katja Liendgens
- Local business owner Belinda Stubblefield of WineStyles Cascade and Landon’s Restaurant

Panel Topics:

- Hear first hand how these women broke down barriers to become successful in their field
- Get tips for women entering the workforce
- Learn about trends being seen with women in business today and what each panelist sees happening in the future

Admission is free.

WHAT: AIU’s Women’s Empowerment Symposium

WHY: The symposium will provide you with an opportunity to hear from leaders in the Atlanta women’s business community, and will feature female professionals who are succeeding – even in today’s difficult economic environment. With so much focus on the bad in business as of late, these successful panelists will share their stories and advice with you and your readership.

WHEN: Thursday, March 26, 2009
6:30 – 8:30 p.m.

WHERE: American InterContinental University, Dunwoody campus
6600 Peachtree-Dunwoody Road
500 Embassy Row
Atlanta, GA 30328

WHO: AIU is an international institution of higher education with campuses in the Buckhead and Dunwoody areas of Atlanta. Awarding Associate, Bachelor’s, and Master’s degrees in a variety of disciplines, the university provides for the varying educational needs of a culturally diverse and geographically dispersed student body.

Space is limited so please secure your attendance as soon as possible! If you are interested but unable to attend, please let us know and we will be happy to send photos and highlights after the event.
